WELCOME ABOARD

DEAR READERS,

Welcome aboard SpiceJet!

As you settle into your seat and soar above the clouds, I wanted to take a moment to reflect on where we are as a nation, and where we are as an airline.

We recently witnessed the extraordinary courage and selfless sacrifice of our armed forces during Operation Sindoor. SpiceJet pays tribute to our Armed Forces for scripting a new chapter of courage and determination – We salute you. We thank you. And we fly today because of you. You are the pride of our nation. To the families of our brave forces, we owe an eternal debt for nurturing the heroes who stand as our shield.

India, under the decisive and strong leadership of Hon'ble Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi, has sent a clear and resounding message: our resolve against terrorism is unyielding, and our commitment to justice for every Indian is absolute.

As we honour our forces, my thoughts also turn to another significant milestone that fills us with immense pride at SpiceJet. This year, we celebrate 20 glorious years of flying. Two decades of connecting hearts, bridging distances, and making dreams take flight across the length and breadth of India and far beyond our borders.

In an industry as dynamic and challenging as aviation, to stand here today as one of the longest-flying private airlines in the country is a testament to perseverance, innovation, and unwavering belief. This is not just an achievement for SpiceJet; it is a collective triumph that belongs to each one of you. You have trusted us, stood by us, cheered for us. Through every takeoff, every landing, every challenge. Your love has kept us flying high.

Like any long journey, ours has had its fair share of turbulence. But what kept us going was the belief of people like you, our passengers. Every time you chose SpiceJet, you weren't just booking a flight; you were becoming a part of our story. And for that, I am deeply grateful.

To our frequent flyers, thank you for your loyalty. To first-time passengers, welcome to the SpiceJet family.

We promise you this: for the next 20 years, and for many more beyond, we will continue to serve you with all our heart, with enhanced services, with a stronger domestic and international network that connects even more corners of our incredible nation and the globe, and with the same unwavering dedication to safety and your comfort that has defined us.

Thank you for flying SpiceJet.

Warm regards,
Jai Hind!

SpiceJet Commences Haj 2025 Operations with Inaugural Flight from Gaya

Airline Inducts Two Airbus A340 Wide-body Aircraft

45 Flights to Operate in First Phase

Haj operations a significant revenue generator for the airline

On May 2, 2025, SpiceJet flagged off its Haj 2025 operations with the inaugural flight departing from Gaya to Medina, marking the start of the sacred pilgrimage for thousands of Indian pilgrims. The airline will operate a total of 45 Haj flights in the first phase, connecting Gaya, Srinagar, Guwahati, and Kolkata to Medina and Jeddah. The first phase of operations will run until May 29, 2025, with flights from Guwahati to Medina beginning May 3, Srinagar to Medina from May 4, and Kolkata to Jeddah from May 16. The return leg of Haj operations is scheduled between June 13 and July 11, 2025. SpiceJet is facilitating the travel of approximately 15,500 pilgrims this year, an 18% increase from the 13,000 pilgrims carried in 2024, further underlining the importance of Haj operations as a significant revenue generator for the airline.

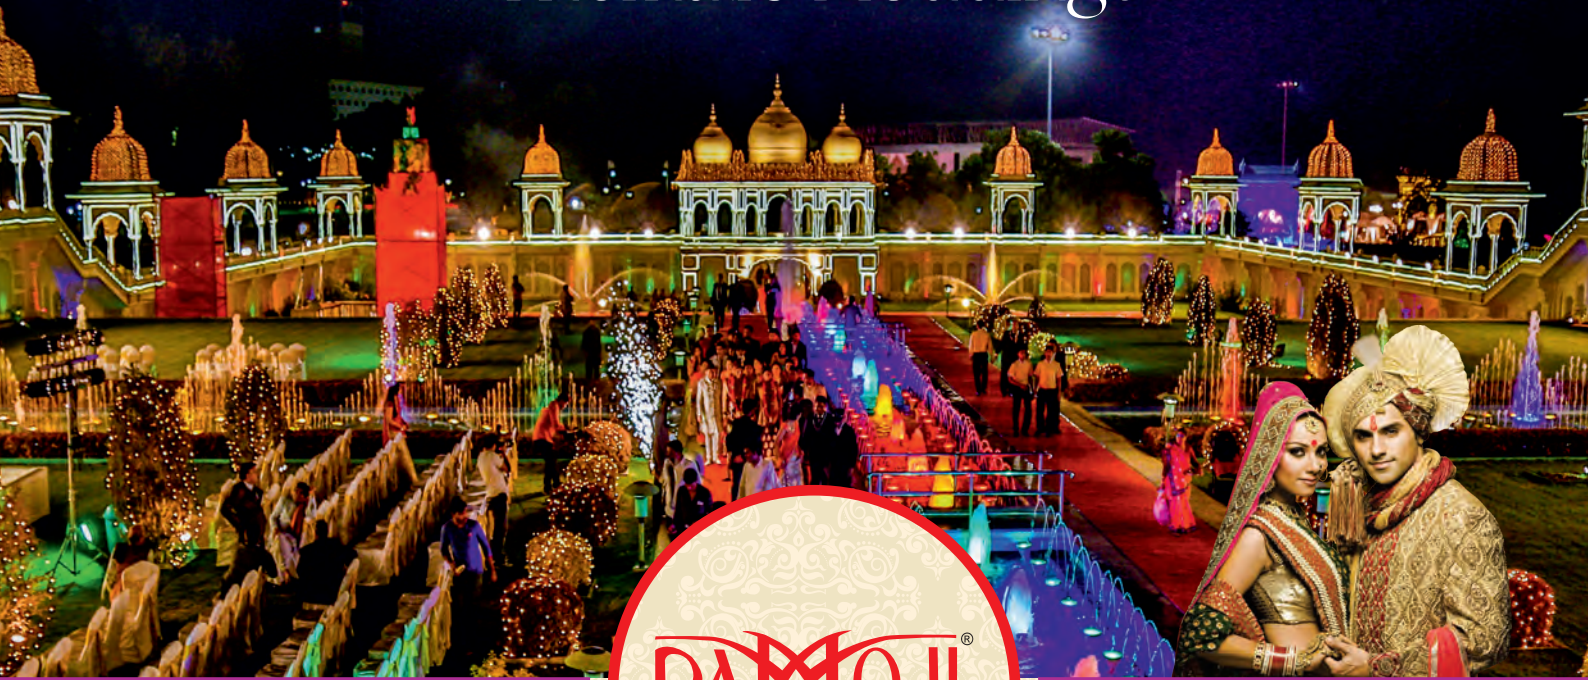

In 2024, SpiceJet operated 102 Haj flights from seven Indian cities including Srinagar, Gaya, Guwahati, Bhopal, Indore, Aurangabad, and Vijayawada, generating a revenue of INR 209 Crore.

To enhance the travel experience, SpiceJet has inducted two wide-body Airbus A340 aircraft, each capable of accommodating 324 passengers. These aircraft will operate on routes from Srinagar and Guwahati to Medina and from Kolkata to Jeddah. A 189-seater Boeing 737 aircraft has been deployed on the Gaya-Medina route.

Debojo Maharshi, Chief Business Officer, SpiceJet, said, "It is an honour for SpiceJet to once again play a meaningful role in facilitating the sacred Haj pilgrimage. Every year, we strive to make this journey smoother and more comfortable for thousands of pilgrims. Our continued participation in this important operation reflects our deep commitment to serving communities across the country with care, efficiency, and dedication. We wish all Haj pilgrims a safe and blessed journey."

BASIC DOS AND DON'TS OF BUYING PROPERTY IN DUBAI: A LEGAL PERSPECTIVE

Dubai's real estate market offers world-class investment opportunities, but it's governed by a sophisticated legal framework that buyers must navigate carefully. As legal advisors deeply entrenched in UAE property law, here are essential legal considerations based on prevailing legislation and practical case experience.

Vishal Tinani, LL.M (UK)

DOs

DO: Conduct Title and Encumbrance Verification via DLD

Before issuing any payment or deposit, conduct a formal title deed verification with the Dubai Land Department (DLD).

Request:

- A copy of the title deed
- A mortgage clearance certificate (if applicable)
- Confirmation of seller's capacity (i.e., ownership, Power of Attorney, or corporate resolution)

Case study: A buyer once remitted AED 700,000 as a deposit for a townhouse. Post-payment, we discovered the title was encumbered by an undisclosed mortgage under enforcement. The buyer spent over 9 months in litigation to recover funds, delays that could've been avoided with a simple DLD title search.

DO: Register All Transactions with DLD and Use Escrow Accounts Under Law No. 7 of 2006 and Law No. 8 of 2007 (Escrow Law):

- All real estate sales must be registered with DLD to attain legal validity.
- For off-plan units, ensure registration via Oqood, and that all payments go into a RERA-registered escrow account.

Avoid any "shortcuts" or verbal offers to bypass these channels; such actions may constitute legal violations and could render the transaction void.

DO: Scrutinize the Sale and Purchase Agreement (SPA)

The SPA is a binding legal document, not a template to skim through. It must define:

- Payment milestones (linked to construction progress or time-based)
- Handover dates and permissible delays
- Compensation mechanisms for developer defaults
- Force majeure clauses
- Dispute resolution (Dubai Courts or arbitration under DIAC/ADCCAC)

Case study: A recent SPA review exposed a developer-inserted clause granting a non-compensable 18-month delay, a major red flag which the buyer, unaware of legal jargon, had initially missed.

DON'TS

DON'T: Rely on Verbal Representations

Under Federal Law No. 5 of 1985 (UAE Civil Transactions Law) and Dubai property regulations, oral promises hold no legal weight unless incorporated into the signed agreement or its registered addenda.

Whether it's a promise of "Burj Khalifa views" or "free upgrades," ensure all such terms are in writing, duly signed by authorized parties, and appended to the SPA.

DON'T: Overlook Jointly Owned Property Laws

When purchasing within a building or community, you're subject to Law No. 6 of 2019 concerning Jointly Owned Properties:

- Expect to pay service charges (DLD-approved budget)
- Follow building modification regulations
- Abide by use restrictions and penalties for violations

Buyers should request a copy of the Jointly Owned Property Declaration (JOPD) and Community Rules prior to purchase.

DON'T: Accept Handover Without a Snag Report

Under Federal Law No. 5 of 1985 and developer liability periods, once a property is handed over, your ability to claim for defects significantly narrows unless defects were reported during the pre-acceptance inspection.

Prepare a snag list with photographic evidence, submit it in writing, and do not sign the handover acknowledgement until issues are formally logged.

Conclusion:

Purchasing property in Dubai involves more than just signing a contract; it requires a sound understanding of the legal landscape. While these do's and don'ts highlight core considerations, additional legal requirements often apply depending on the property type and transaction structure. Staying informed is not just wise, it's essential to safeguarding your investment.

Harsh Patel

Impacting global accounting and legal services like never before

Having founded Water & Shark at the young age of 19, Harsh Patel is changing the global accountancy and legal services sector, one step at a time. With global exposure and an in-depth knowledge and understanding of legal nuances and cross-country protocols, he has transformed his company into a global advisory powerhouse.

1. You founded Water & Shark at the age of 19. What gave you the conviction to start building a global professional services brand at such a young age?

At 19, I was still completing my Chartered Accountancy. However, one thing that I had very clear in my mind was – I did not want to do the traditional Big Four route. I instead wanted to create a firm that would be on a global level. Having this belief spurred me to build Water & Shark, with the vision of setting up a worldwide consultancy based on Indian values. Beginning with nothing but relentless drive, I weathered adversity by embracing change and constant learning. Water & Shark now has operations in several countries, a success born out of believing that age is not an issue when passion and doggedness join forces.

2. You've transitioned from a Chartered Accountant to an International Lawyer, and now a global entrepreneur. How has this multifaceted background helped you bridge finance, law, and business?

My experience and smooth transition from a Chartered Accountant to an International lawyer has provided me with a distinctive eye for seeing business issues in its totality. Having a grasp of both the financial nuances and legal infrastructures enables me to design solutions that are not only compliant-ready but also pragmatic. In the modern globalized business world, such holistic views are precious, allowing for anticipatory decision-making and sustainable development.

3. You're the go-to legal and financial advisor for unicorn founders, institutional investors, and royal family offices. What makes Water & Shark's offering uniquely valuable in such a competitive international landscape?

At Water & Shark, we have a distinct advantage of curating very personalised solutions coupled with a people-driven philosophy. We don't give mere legal and financial advice – instead, we serve as partners who think as business owners themselves. Our bespoke services are for high-stakes settings, giving unicorn founders, institutional investors, and royal family offices the power to navigate complexities with confidence. We distinguish ourselves through a culture of leadership and entrepreneurial minds that are powered by empathy, where each of our team members is empowered to innovate and deliver solutions that are not just technically compelling but also commercially meaningful.

4. With tax reforms, regulatory shifts, and geopolitical dynamics constantly evolving, what do you believe is the next frontier in global legal and financial advisory?

With my long years of experience across geographies, I have been able to build a vision of a world where economic and legal structures play in harmony, creating possibilities for international understanding. We at Water & Shark hope to bring together chartered accountants and lawyers under one global network, creating what will become the world's best firm driven by innovation, ethics, and technology. It's the essence of unshakeable faith in the future, with a focus on ongoing improvement that helps us stay relevant even in changing times. Such a mentality, characterized by determination and perseverance, sets my idea apart, exemplifying a dynamic change towards a brighter tomorrow.

5. Let's talk about Water & Shark Capital – your venture into the world of strategic investment and global real estate. What's the core philosophy behind the firm, and what kind of investors is it built for?

Water & Shark Capital was established with the purpose of filling the gap between conventional investment strategies and the changing demands of international investors. Our fundamental belief is centered on providing strategic, diversified, and future-oriented investment solutions, especially in high-end real estate and structured capital markets. We deal with High Net Worth Individuals (HNIs), Ultra High Net Worth Individuals (UHNIs), and family offices looking for customized solutions that fit their long-term objectives for wealth preservation and growth.

6. Another major initiative you're working on is your Global REIT & Capital Firm. What inspired this move, and what opportunities do you see in the international real estate and capital markets?

The idea was inspired by the realization of the growing need for diversified and accessible real estate investment opportunities beyond borders. Through the creation of a Global Real Estate Investment Trust (REIT) and Capital Firm, we are allowing investors to access international property markets without the hassle of direct property ownership. This step paves the way to stable income sources and capital appreciation options in emerging markets around the globe, as part of our mandate to democratize global investment channels.

7. You're now building a Digital Bank. What motivated this move into fintech, and how does your model differentiate itself in today's digital finance ecosystem?

In the past 12 years, we've noticed one major problem – traditional banks are slow, fragmented, and disconnected from the realities of modern business. Especially for companies operating globally – or managing both fiat and digital assets—the system is anything but seamless. And this is the gap we want to bridge with our digital bank. It is not just about transactions – it's a full-scale, integrated platform that empowers businesses. Businesses can open multi-currency accounts with us for seamless international transactions and manage both fiat and digital assets in one streamlined environment. We are a one-stop solution for cross-border founders, high-growth businesses, and family offices — people who need clarity, compliance, and capital mobility in one place. Our platform eliminates delays, reduces friction, and brings everything —from incorporation to financial operations — under one strategic roof. This isn't just digital banking. It's infrastructure for global business.

8. You've been featured as a keynote speaker at TEDx, European Parliament, and global forums. What message do you consistently find yourself returning to, regardless of the stage?

In my presentations, I always stress on the strength of vision-driven thinking combined with moral leadership. Success, I feel, is not only about profitability but also about contributing positively to society. Wherever I am speaking on legal innovation or entrepreneurial survival, my message is always that it's crucial to create businesses that are driven by integrity and value for the long term. It's about creating a mindset where leadership isn't merely defined by wealth creation, but by the good it does for the world, making a lasting impact that helps both people and communities.

9. There's a clear element of impact in everything you do—from legal innovation to empowering entrepreneurs. What legacy do you hope to create through your work?

I would like to be remembered for my legacy, which emphasizes the revolutionary power of blending professional achievement with social responsibility. Through my efforts in legal reform, financial literacy, and entrepreneurial guidance, I seek to enable individuals and communities to construct enduring success. My dream is a world where moral practices and creative thinking create inclusive growth, assisting in taking society forward as a whole. By investing in the next generation of leaders, I would like to make a lasting difference beyond business achievement and help bring about a more balanced and prosperous world.

10. Outside the boardroom, who is Harsh Patel? What routines, principles, or passions keep you grounded as you fly high in business and life?

Beyond the boardroom, I'm intensely focused on personal development and equilibrium. I love to read, always looking for new information, and subscribe to the idea of ongoing education. Meditation and frequent physical activity are crucial habits for staying centered and focused. I also take time to mentor emerging professionals, something that not only allows me to contribute to society but keeps me grounded in new ideas and fresh thinking. These habits assist me in remaining earthed while walking through the busy corporate life, enabling me to ensure personal well-being and professional success.

11. As someone who mentors emerging professionals in finance, law, and entrepreneurship, what advice would you give them to stand out and stay resilient in a volatile world?

For me, success is about creating a culture based on integrity, innovation, and societal contribution. A genuinely successful company makes a positive, sustainable contribution to its industry and society. To a founder, success means to lead with vision, cultivate talent, and see that the growth of the organization serves its people as well as the greater community. It is about leaving a legacy that transcends profit, one that is sustainable and brings positive change to generations to come.

Prof. Dr. Hemant Verma

Vice-Chancellor, SGT University

What is your vision for SGT University, and how do you plan to achieve it?

With over 23 years of excellence, SGT University is dedicated to “Nurturing Future Leaders” ready to negotiate the complexity of the contemporary society. Our vision is to become a nationally and globally recognized institution known for academic excellence, innovative research, and impactful societal contributions. Our NAAC A+ accreditation is a testament to our commitment to high-quality education and continuous growth.

We also remain deeply committed to social responsibility through healthcare advancements, rural empowerment, and sustainability initiatives. By combining tradition with innovation, SGT University continues to shape skilled, ethical, and visionary leaders for the future.

What are your initiatives to ensure academic excellence and maintain high standards in teaching and research?

At SGT University, academic excellence is driven by continuous faculty development, innovative curriculum design, and a strong focus on research. The Centre of Excellence for Andragogical and Pedagogical Sciences (CEAPS) advances teaching methodologies, while the Thanu Padmanabhan Centre for Cosmology and Science Popularization supports high-impact research and international collaboration.

We are proud to have a National Reference Simulation Centre, one of the first medical simulation centers in India, established in collaboration with the Indian Nursing Council, USAID-funded Jhpiego, and Laerdal Medical. This high-fidelity simulation facility provides nursing and medical students with essential clinical training.

Our innovation landscape is further expanded by government-funded ACIC and IIC incubation centers that promote entrepreneurship and industry-oriented research. With over 10,000 publications, 280+ published patents, 54+ incubated startups, and 80+ academic clubs, SGT University stands as a dynamic hub of academic and entrepreneurial excellence.

How do you envision the role of technology in transforming the student learning experience?

How is SGT partaking in this transformation?

Technology is a powerful catalyst for educational transformation, and SGT University is at the forefront. Synergy, SGT’s annual tech fest, serves as a platform to showcase innovations in robotics, AI, and emerging technologies. Delhi-NCR’s largest tech fest promotes creativity, interdisciplinary research, and real-world problem-solving across diverse domains such as science, medicine, management, humanities, fashion, and the arts.

Beyond this, SGT is evolving into a fully AI-enabled campus—integrating AI into all academic programs, upgrading laboratories, using AI-powered content delivery and assessments, and deploying chatbots for real-time student support. Our online and hybrid learning programs are also in the pipeline. These efforts ensure our students are prepared to excel in an increasingly digital and innovation-driven world.

How do you plan to foster a sense of community and inclusivity among students?

Inclusivity and community-building are central to our mission. We cultivate a supportive environment through mentorship programs, over 18 active cultural clubs, and diversity-focused initiatives. Our mentors ensure that every student, regardless of background, feels valued and empowered.

Regular town halls, an open-door policy, and comprehensive psychological support systems strengthen this inclusive culture. We also celebrate diversity through events like Ek Bharat Shreshtha Bharat 2025, and ensure new students feel welcome through the Deeksharambh 2024 induction program.

What strategies do you use to build partnerships and collaborations with industry, government, and other stakeholders?

SGT University adopts a proactive engagement model to establish impactful partnerships with industry, government and other stakeholders. Our Innovation and Incubation Centre and Centre for Career Advancement actively pursue collaborations offering internships, research opportunities, and skill development.

With over 100 active MoUs with national and international universities, industries, and research institutions, and collaborations with top organizations like Deloitte, KPMG, Infosys, SMC, and Mankind, we promote academic exchange, joint research, and innovation, ensuring our graduates are future-ready and globally competent.

How do you see the higher education landscape evolving in the next 10–15 years, and how will SGT University adapt?

India’s knowledge system is poised to gain global prominence. The future of higher education will be increasingly skill-driven, technology-led, and interdisciplinary. SGT is keeping pace with this shift by adopting experiential learning, promoting global faculty exchanges, promoting interdisciplinary curriculum and integrating technologies like AI and blockchain into academic workflows.

FOR A PERFECT SPOOKY READ

A Home to Haunt is a perfect summer evening's surprise read. Sudeshna Shome Ghosh's marvellous and funny children's novella centres around Poltu, aka Palash Ranjan Sen, a daring, adventure-loving, cricket-crazy, curious eight-year-old, who finds himself caught in the middle of a thrilling nightlong supernatural saga that requires him to find homes for a train-full of billowy and benevolent ghosts with names as enticing as Khepa and Lalmoni, bhoots who have been displaced from their long-standing, decrepit homes by the onslaught of new "builder" apartments. Reminiscent of a bewitching stream of consciousness style that will remind the reader of Sukumar Ray's HaJaBaRaLa, this caper, superlatively illustrated by Pankaj Saikia, races through automated talking taxis, an aromatic ghostly repast in a graveyard, a fate-clinching cricket match which finally gets approbation by the Board of Ghost Cricket Control, a surreal concert on the Hooghly and so much more. A perfect read for middle-graders, to be savoured on a lazy summer afternoon over a packet of gems!

VASTU-INFUSED SPACES THAT SUPPORT YOUR SUCCESS

When you build a home, you're not just laying bricks—you're shaping your future. More than structure or design, a home should nurture your well-being and support your ambitions. This is where Vastu Shastra, the ancient Indian science of energy-aligned living, becomes transformative.

Vastu isn't superstition—it's a precise method of aligning your space with the five natural elements and directional forces. When your home resonates with this energy, it becomes a source of health, harmony, and prosperity.

From the way your bedroom is oriented to where your kitchen is placed, every element has an energetic impact. I've personally witnessed hundreds of lives transform—improved health, better finances, and emotional clarity—just through Vastu-based corrections. When your space flows in harmony, so does your life.

In today's fast-paced world, success doesn't come from hard work alone. You need an environment that supports you silently. Vastu offers exactly that—a home that empowers you. After 27 years and 5,500+ consultations across homes, factories, and offices, I can say with certainty: Vastu transforms lives. It's not about changing your beliefs—just changing how your space supports your growth.

And if you're planning to build your dream home, don't miss this: Ashish Patidar's 3-part series Home Construction Secrets No One Told You is a practical and powerful guide that takes you step-by-step through creating a Vastu-aligned bungalow—from choosing the right plot (Book 1), constructing with energy balance (Book 2), to designing interiors that attract prosperity (Book 3). Blending spiritual wisdom with engineering logic, this easy-to-understand set is a must-read for anyone building with purpose, peace, and positivity.

BALD TO BOLD BY "Advanced FUE Hair Transplant"

Having a vast experience of 13 years with over 4000 hair restoration surgeries and exceptional and consistent results to her credit, Dr Shalini Malhotra, MBBS, DNB Dermatology (Safdarjung Hospital, Delhi), MNAMS, ABHRS (USA), makes sure that you have a crowning glory on your head.

"I perform every hair restoration surgery myself and do not believe in leaving the patient in the hands of technicians. I'm trained in performing an extremely refined procedure for hair transplant called The Advanced FUE technique," says she. She uses extremely fine and technologically advanced instruments called implanters. These are single-use and ensure safety during the procedure as well as quality in results. There is minimal handling of grafts resulting in almost 99 per cent survival of hair follicles.

Dr Shalini Malhotra is one of the few master surgeons who performs the advanced FUE (Follicular Unit Excision) technique of hair transplant using implanters that's safe & gives natural results. Patient can resume routine activities from the next day of surgery.

What is hair transplantation? How safe is it? Hair transplantation is a simple surgery done under local anaesthesia. It involves removing hair follicles from the back portion of the scalp called the 'donor site' and transplanting them to a bald or balding area known as the 'recipient site'. It is one of the safest procedure in the medical field provided it's done by a qualified and experienced doctor in a sterilised OT set up.

Who is qualified for hair transplantation?

A hair transplant doctor should have degrees such as MD or DNB in Dermatology or Plastic Surgery. A board certification can be of value. The American Board of Hair Restoration Surgery (ABHRS) is the only recognised organization by the International Society of Hair Restoration Surgery (ISHRS) that offers certification for doctors specialising in hair transplantation.

Apart from this, a qualified hair transplant doctor is someone who has extensive training in hair transplant surgery, understands the reasons for hair loss well and has many satisfied clients. Looking at one's before and after transplantation results can be a testament to one's skills. Finally, ethics is the key. Too many clinics have aggressive salesmen to push you into a procedure that the surgeon might otherwise think is dangerous or inappropriate. Ethical judgment on when not to operate is very important.

You are certified by the American Board of Hair Restoration Surgery (ABHRS). What does it actually mean for patients?

With a post-graduate degree in Dermatology, I underwent rigorous training in hair transplantation from the DHI (Direct Hair Implant) Academy in Greece, where I also worked as a Master Surgeon for over four years. I then cleared the challenging American Board of Hair Restoration Surgery (ABHRS) examination in Chicago, the USA, thereby becoming one of the handful of doctors in India to have earned the prestigious & only certification of ABHRS for hair transplantation globally. I'm the first Indian to be elected to the Board of Directors of ABHRS, which is a matter of great pride for me. The ABHRS exam stands as the only psychometrically and statistically validated examination for hair restoration surgery. For more information you can visit www.abhrs.org.

What technique of hair transplantation do you use. Please elaborate?

There are two basic techniques that are available for hair transplantation worldwide. The FUT or the strip technique and the FUE or the follicular unit excision technique.

I perform "The Advanced FUE Technique" using implanters. It is an extremely refined technique of hair restoration performed only by a handful of surgeons globally. In this technique, individual hair follicles are manually plucked out from the back of the head by a minimally invasive technique and a disposable handheld device. They are then implanted one by one in the bald patch without the creation of any reception holes, using a pen-like device called the implanter. There is minimal handling of grafts resulting in almost 99 per cent survival of the hair follicles.

How much does a hair transplant cost?

The cost varies depending on the number of grafts required, the area to be covered, the quality of instruments, the technique used, the experience of the doctor, facilities and infrastructure of the clinic.

When can you expect to see full results?

Full results can be expected within 9 to 12 months. The results are so natural that no one can make out that transplant has been done.

Is hair transplant painful?

In the first few minutes of the procedure local anaesthesia injections are given. Once the effect of anaesthesia sets in patient does not feel any pain. There is music in OT with regular washroom and snack breaks. Patients are extremely comfortable throughout the surgery.

Is it necessary to shave one's head to get a hair transplant done?

NO. Unshaven sessions are possible at our clinic.

How long does the procedure take?

The hair transplant procedure takes 5 to 6 hours. Patients can go home the same day and resume normal work the very next day.

Who performs surgery at your clinic?

The complete implantation is done by me. Technicians are not allowed to perform surgeries in my operation theatre.

What is the USP of a hair transplant procedure at your clinic?

Since I perform the surgery and take full responsibility, the patient is in the safest hands. I use the Advanced FUE procedure using implanters which gives dense hair with natural looking results. Patients can resume normal activities from the next day. There is no need to shave the hair. We have a state-of-the-art facility wherein all sterilisation protocols are strictly followed.

Abhay Prabhavana Museum and Knowledge Centre, A ‘Museum of Ideas’: Where India’s Spiritual Legacy Finds Contemporary Expression

As a traveller, a learner, or someone with a curious mind, we all seek out places that spark reflection and deepen our understanding. But what if a space could do more – nurture those thoughts, give them direction, and help them grow? Set against the backdrop of the historic Pale caves, Abhay Prabhavana Museum and Knowledge Centre is one such destination. It is not just a museum, but an immersive journey through the timeless core values of Indian civilization. Conceptualized by Shri Abhay Firodia, this 50-acre knowledge centre is among the largest private museums in the world. But what makes it truly exceptional is its purpose and vision that breathes life into every corner of the space.

Every element here is designed to engage not with facts alone, but with the ethos of Indian thought. Across 3.5 lakh square feet, visitors are guided through 30 immersive galleries which present living interconnected ideals. The museum honours values such as compassion, plurality, non-violence & restraint: ideas that have quietly shaped Indian life across generations. These concepts are not presented through conventional means. Instead, they are artistically evoked – through immersive storytelling, interactive design, and curated experiences that resonate on multiple levels.

The galleries also offer a rare blend of artistic sensitivity and technological sophistication. Through multi-sensory installations, projections, virtual reality zones and digital exhibits, even abstract concepts become tangible and accessible. One may find themselves pausing before an exhibit that reflects the principle of multiple viewpoints of truth, or establishing a visual narrative that links timeless teachings to contemporary dilemmas, from mindfulness to balanced living.

The architectural marvels of the museum include the 100-foot Manastambh that rises in intricately carved stages of spiritual evolution. The Plaza of Equanimity – calm yet visually striking, is centred around the pristine white Sarvatobhadra statue, facing all four directions. The awe-inspiring 43-foot sculpture of Rishabhdev stands as a homage to the first Tirthankar, one who laid the foundation of civilisation through knowledge, skill, order, and social vision. Around the base, murals of his children: Bharat, Bahubali, Brahmi, and Sundari narrate stories of intellect, power, and values passed through generations.

Outdoors, the Heritage Walk deepens the journey. It offers an extraordinary connection to India’s sacred geography featuring artistic recreations of iconic monuments such as the Jal Mandir at Pavapuri (where Mahavir attained Nirvana), the Gwalior caves, Kere Basadi, Moodabidri, Dholavira, and more. Every step echoes stories of monumental architecture, shared values, and a civilisation that always saw learning and living as intertwined.

Abhay Prabhavana is designed to awaken curiosity and contemplation. It does not merely inform. It transforms and it does so by offering a rare kind of engagement, where history meets relevance, and tradition becomes personally releatable. It leaves visitors not with answers, but with better questions and a quiet understanding that India’s wisdom still speaks, with strength and grace, to the world today.

(Abhay Prabhavana is located close to Pune (1 hr by road) and Mumbai (2 hrs).

Degrees to match new-age career goals

For decades, the narrative has been clear: finish high school, get into a good college and secure a stable, well-paying job. In today's day when career goals are most dynamic and ever changing, this quest for right education has become sacrosanct. Colleges are more than just a place to earn a credential — they are a rite of passage, a hub for intellectual growth, and a launchpad for adulthood.

Universities today are global education hubs, with curriculum especially tailored to match the expectation of the job market across geographies. With exchange programmes and faculties coming in from international universities, students in the new-age institutes get the best exposure as far as education is concerned. Modern tools, and well crafted pedagogy shape the student's learning and growth from a very young age. According to data from the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, bachelor's degree holders earn significantly more over their lifetimes than those with only a high school diploma. Beyond earnings, college graduates are more likely to receive employer benefits as they graduate to entering the job market.

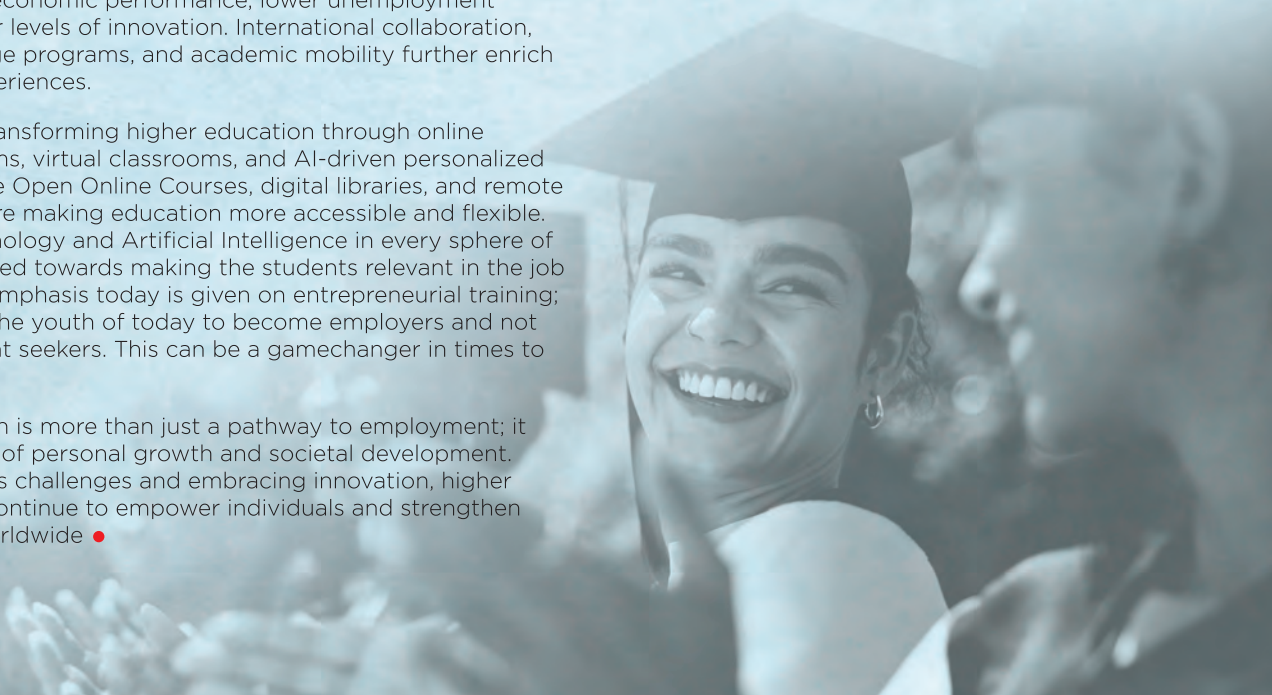

A Changing Landscape

The job space across the world is changing fast. This has made it necessary that colleges should stay ahead of time. More and more institutions are offering hybrid learning options, shorter certification programs, and partnerships with tech companies and local industries. There's a growing emphasis on internships, co-ops, and practical experience, aiming to better align academic learning with workplace demands. Countries worldwide recognize the strategic importance of higher education. Nations with robust education systems tend to enjoy better economic performance, lower unemployment rates, and higher levels of innovation. International collaboration, student exchange programs, and academic mobility further enrich educational experiences.

Technology is transforming higher education through online learning platforms, virtual classrooms, and AI-driven personalized learning. Massive Open Online Courses, digital libraries, and remote collaborations are making education more accessible and flexible. The use of technology and Artificial Intelligence in every sphere of education is aimed towards making the students relevant in the job space. A lot of emphasis today is given on entrepreneurial training; this will enable the youth of today to become employers and not only employment seekers. This can be a gamechanger in times to come.

Higher education is more than just a pathway to employment; it is a cornerstone of personal growth and societal development. By addressing its challenges and embracing innovation, higher education can continue to empower individuals and strengthen communities worldwide ●

Airport fashion takes off with high-flying comfort and cool

Once upon at terminals, airport style was synonymous with oversized hoodies and last-minute track pants. For the ones who care about picture-perfect arrivals and departures, there's a dedicated catalogue to curate runway-worthy looks for jet-setting travellers.

This summer, the check-in counter is doubling as a catwalk, with Bollywood celebrities and style-savvy influencers setting the bar (and baggage allowances) sky-high. Leading the pack are screen queens Deepika Padukone and Alia Bhatt, who are giving oversized shirts and fluid co-ord sets a first-class upgrade. Think breezy silhouettes in soft pastel hues that are perfect for keeping cool while serving quiet luxury. Kriti Sanon and Janhvi Kapoor, meanwhile, are boarding in style with a sartorial split between breezy kurtis and sporty crop-top-jogger combos. Their go-to formula? Pair desi ease with Gen Z edge, and top it off with statement sneakers and that signature “just spotted by the paps” energy. A graphic shirt with quirky one-liners or cartoons is another clever way to set the mood straight.

While selecting the airport wardrobe, opt for light as air athleisure wear or easy-breezy Indian garments for all practical reasons. Fabric choices can be cool cottons, linens, and featherweight blends that are the undisputed winners of this travel season. Earthy tones are in transit with warm neutrals, but there’s always room for a splash if you are in the mood to make a statement. The choices vary from bold printed dresses to the occasional dopamine-bright hoodies and tank tops to shine amidst the crowd. If the outfit says “soft landing,” it’s probably a hit.

Accessories wise

For seasoned travellers the mantra is ‘think minimal, but make it memorable.’ Whether it’s a leather tote slung with intention or a pair of tinted aviators worn like a mood, functionality meets fashion at 30,000 feet above the ground. Baseball caps bring in sporty flair, while chunky designer sliders and logo-heavy scarves add just the right dose of drama without overstepping into overdressed territory. To add to the cool factor, top it with a smart watch, funky headphones and a cool mobile case.

Gone are the days when airport looks were an afterthought. Today, terminal style is a genre of its own, somewhere between “effortless” and editorial. Of course, there’s the undeniable impact of paparazzi culture that makes it more appealing for young fashionistas. In the age of social media, everyone from top-billed actors to influencers feel the need to be seen in the luxe-leisure lane wearing outfits that whisper — I woke up like this but shout custom designer co-ord.

Catch flights, not feelings

It's no exaggeration to say sneakers and chunky kicks are having a moment among celebrities, and it has trickled down to airport style guide. From chunky kicks, limited-edition sneakers, embellished Crocs (yes, they've had a glow-up) to the elusive Nike Air Yeezys, terminal style now doubles as a financial investment. For many, airport footwear is less about arch support and more about status support.

Maybe with the rise in airport fashion segment, the entire industry is onboard and dropping special edits to cater to this niche segment. Luxury giants like Gucci, Versace, Chanel, Prada and Fendi have launched exclusive travelwear capsules, while sportswear brands such as Nike, Adidas, and Puma are racing ahead with tech-infused fabrics, exclusive collabs, and drops that sell out faster than an early morning flight to Goa. Which makes us wonder if one's outfit or accessory doesn't have limited-edition bragging rights nor covered in bold brand logos, does it even qualify for a take-off? Perhaps, the only exception would be a monogrammed piece with your initials dripped in quite luxury aesthetics.

Retro remix

With Y2K nostalgia in full swing, airport fashion is taking a playful detour. Chunky sneakers, shiny nylon jackets, low-rise joggers, and varsity jackets are strutting back into the spotlight. Think Kareena's Poo meets current-day streetwear, minus the drama, plus the dopamine dressing. For Gen Z and millennials alike, it's all about colour-blocking, bright graphic prints, and just the right touch of bling.

As activewear blurs the line between gym, jet, and office, the demand for sustainable, breathable, and skin-friendly fabrics is flying high. Bamboo blends, hemp-based leggings, and vegan-friendly jackets are becoming staples in every influencer's travel wardrobe. Long-haul flights now require outfits that wick away sweat, fight bacteria, and still serve style. Functional details like big pockets, zippers, versatile modes, adjustable cords, and foldable hoods are the hidden MVPs of the look.

From DeepVeer's matching neutrals to Kiara Advani's no-makeup-makeup paired with a latte-toned trench, the verdict is clear: airport fashion is no longer just a layover between looks but it's the destination itself. So, next time you zip up that hoodie or lace up those sneakers, remember you're not just travelling but on your way to strut on the ramp with a boarding pass ●

International Yoga Day, on 21st June, transcends the bodily aspect of postures and stretches. It reminds us of ancient philosophy that stresses body-mind-soul harmony. The theme for the year is 'Yoga for One Earth, One Health'.

As mental health is a serious issue in contemporary life, yoga is a refuge for people across the globe. Practicing mindfulness, deep breathing, and meditation are fights against anxiety, depression, and stress. In a time when digital distractions and rapid living are so common, yoga encourages individuals to slow down, introspect, and bring their lives into alignment.

In school and the workplace, yoga is being incorporated more and more into everyday life, helping to improve concentration, posture, and mood. The young learn improved discipline and self-knowledge through exposing them to yoga from an early age. In the case of older adults, it helps maintain mobility, alleviates chronic pain, and overall improves quality of life. It is really a practice for the young, old, able-bodied, and disabled.

In addition to that, its economic and social contribution is very important. The growth of wellness tourism, yoga retreats, and certified teachers has generated employment opportunities and inspired eco-friendly living. It supports sustainable living that is harmonious with nature without compromising the surroundings.

International Yoga Day is not merely a celebration but a call to adopt yoga as a way of life. It's about integrating its principles—compassion, discipline, awareness, and inner peace—into everyday actions. Whether one practices for five minutes or fifty, the ripple effect of those moments can influence thoughts, behaviors, and even communities. In today's fragmented world, yoga offers the gift of unity, reminding us that peace begins within ●

Pride Month, which takes place every June, is a celebration that is all about giving honor and credit to the LGBTQ+ community, acknowledging their struggles, celebrating their triumphs, and ensuring that there are equal rights for everyone. It is a good reminder of how far society has progressed in being accepting and inclusive, and how there is still more work to be done to ensure equality.

The roots of Pride Month date back to the 1969 Stonewall Riots in New York City, a turning point in LGBTQ+ history. The protests were incited by a police raid on the Stonewall Inn, a gay bar, and gave rise to a mass movement that called for civil rights and protection against discrimination. Today, Pride Month pays tribute to that history and the activists who stood up against injustice, many of whom risked their lives for the right to live authentically.

During June, cities all over the world celebrate with parades, festivals, panels, and other community events. These events are vibrant, energetic, and full of love, but also strongly symbolic. The rainbow flag, which is a well-known symbol of LGBTQ+ pride, flies high during these celebrations, symbolizing diversity, solidarity, and hope. Every color in the flag has a meaning—red for life, orange for healing, yellow for sunlight, green for nature, blue for harmony, and violet for spirit.

Pride is not only a celebration but also about spreading awareness. It is also a call to action, which calls its allies to stand with the community not just during the Pride month but throughout the year — through advocacy, inclusive legislation, and real acceptance.

In the world of today, where discussions around identity and inclusion are becoming louder, Pride Month could not be more relevant. It creates a sense of belonging for individuals who have been historically marginalized and provides them with a voice to narrate their experiences. Whether it's through fashion, art, music, or activism, Pride is a celebration of strength, happiness, and the right to love and be loved ●

My Town

In our series, we travel to various Indian destinations with a SpiceJet family member. This time, Supriya Thapa takes us around her home city, Chennai.

MS. SUPRIYA THAPA
CABIN CREW

Where is your hometown, and what is something very special about the place?

My hometown is Chennai, the capital of Tamil Nadu. A vibrant state, that is full of life, colour, and culture. The magnificent temples, scenic hill stations like Ooty and Kodaikanal, and its mouth-watering South Indian cuisine, makes it even more vibrant. If you happen to visit Chennai or any other city during Pongal - the traditional harvest festival, you'll get to experience the warmth, hospitality, and festive spirit of Tamil culture firsthand.

What makes you return to your hometown again and again?

There are so many things that keep pulling me back to my Chennai. From the serene temples to the lively Marina Beach, every corner of Chennai holds a special place in my heart. One place I never miss visiting is the Kapaleeshwarar Temple. I love the peaceful atmosphere there - it is a perfect place to reflect and connect spiritually. Another favourite hangout of mine is the Besant Nagar Beach, also known as Elliot's Beach. It's calm, clean and I enjoy just sitting by the shore, watching the waves, or strolling along the beach lined with cool cafés, tasty street food, and vibrant local stalls.

Name one restaurant you would recommend to a visitor, and a not-to-miss delicacy on the menu?

My all-time favourite restaurant is Dakshin at Crowne Plaza, located in Alwarpet. It's a place I always recommend to visitors looking to experience authentic South Indian cuisine in an elegant setting. If you ever visit, don't miss their signature dish - the Banana Dosa. It's a unique twist on the traditional dosa, with a sweet and flavourful taste that's truly unforgettable. I always tell people: try it at least once – you won't regret it!

What is the best season to visit your hometown and why?

The best time to visit Chennai is during the winter months, from November to February, when the weather is pleasant and comfortable. Temperatures usually range between 20°C to 28°C, making it perfect for sightseeing and exploring the state's rich cultural and natural attractions. While the summers can be quite hot and humid, the monsoon brings heavy rainfall, which though enjoyable, limits outdoor activities. So, if you're planning a trip, winter is the ideal time to experience Tamil Nadu at its best.

Which are the must-visit places in your town?

I highly recommend visiting Marina Beach, one of the longest urban beaches in the world. It's a great place to take a relaxing walk, enjoy the cool and refreshing sea breeze, and watch the sunset. Chennai is full of wonderful places to explore. Some must-visit attractions include Fort St George, Kapaleeswarar Temple, Santhome Church, and the Government Museum. Families, nature lovers and especially children will enjoy the Arignar Anna Zoological Park (Vandalur Zoo), while history enthusiasts should check out Valluvar Kottam, a monument dedicated to the classical Tamil poet Thiruvalluvar. For those interested in ancient architecture and heritage, a trip to nearby Mahabalipuram and the temple town of Kanchipuram is a must.

QUICK GETAWAYS NEAR CHENNAI

Mahabalipuram : A short drive from Chennai, Mahabalipuram is an ancient town situated along the Coromandel Coast of Tamil Nadu. A UNESCO World Heritage Site, it is renowned for its rock-cut temples and monolithic monuments, most of which were built during the Pallava dynasty.

Kanchipuram : Often referred to as the 'City of Thousand Temples', Kanchipuram is known for its majestic temple architecture and vibrant silk saree weaving tradition. A legacy of South Indian heritage, the Kanchipuram sarees were worn by queens, temple dancers, and generations of elegant women, symbolising grandeur and grace.

Ooty : Often referred to as the 'Queen of Hill Stations', Ooty is situated in the Nilgiris district of Tamil Nadu. The charming destination is renowned for its lush tea gardens, rolling hills, and pleasant climate. The Nilgiri Mountain Railway, a UNESCO World Heritage site, offers a scenic journey to Ooty from Mettupalaiyam, and is a popular attraction among tourists.

*I began with little, now in abundance; I learnt from scratch, now I play scrabble
I was trained by the laurels and exhibited like scholars.
I explored the optimum and got the impossibles ;
I was brought by in laws and now I have fermented some remarkables.*

*I analyzed and absorbed initially, then reached to the conclusion,
It's not as easy to pass a decade and get celebration.
I am scheduled and dedicated and I expect the same from our counterpart,
Those who follow stays, those who dont they either left out or apart.
I am a well-wisher for all those who are on track ,
I scrutinize well and gave time to time jack.
I am fortunate to serve and do my best till the last breath.*
